Green Hills Resident Goes Skydiving

September 24, 2018 (AMES, IOWA) – Green Hills resident, Wayne Rowley, had recently celebrated his 85th birthday. Unlike a traditional birthday with cake and candles, he opted for an adventure of a lifetime. Wayne decided there was no better way to celebrate than to go skydiving. His adventure not only meant jumping out of a plane, but also freefalling for two miles before his parachute opened and drifted him back down to earth.

“There was no trepidation on my part for stepping out of that plane,” said Wayne Rowley. “It was a wild. We did lots of swoops and curves. It was beyond my expectation and I can’t wait to go again.”

Green Hills is a Life Plan Community with the motto, “Live Life...The Way You Want It.” For residents like Wayne, this means continuing to pursue his active lifestyle with new experiences.
